

Second Euro Mediterranean Public Management Dialogue

Portoroz-Piran, Slovenia, 7-10 October 2009

PhD Workshop

The Steering Committee is also organising a Seminar for PhDs on 7 and 8 October during the 2nd MED to be held at the University of Portoroz.

The theme of the Second Dialogue is centred on local public services and territorial management. The aim of the Seminar for PhDs is to bring together young researchers who are working on this theme and on countries that are taking part in the Dialogue.

Theses may be theoretical, methodological or empirical. The objective is to present, discuss, learn and establish a community of young researchers from the Mediterranean Basin.

You are invited to put forward a paper proposal to participate in this Seminar, whatever the state of development of your thesis.

The PhD participants who attended the First PhD Workshop last year will of course be welcome to take part in the Second Workshop!

Selection Criteria

The Workshop is open solely to students from the Euro-Mediterranean zone. The number of participants is limited.

The paper proposal submitted must:

- propose a precise research question of interest to the Euro-Mediterranean space;
- present preferably an outline of the theoretical framework, a methodological section, and if possible some empirical research;
- include preliminary conclusions and discussion points (example: questions of concern to you);
- length: between 6500 and 9000 words.
